Opioid Epidemic

There is an Opioid epidemic. We at Northside Podiatry are committed to avoiding excessive prescribing of Opioids. We have a number of alternatives to prescription pain killers. First, we can use nerve blocks and cortisone injections to directly treat pain in the foot or ankle.

Second, we offer MLS laser, which is a therapeutic type of laser to treat pain and inflammation without any pharmaceuticals. Third, we address the underlying biomechanical and structural issues that are causing many pain conditions that we treat. This is with orthotics, specialty shoe wear, or braces. Our surgical patients generally find that the combination of careful technique, long acting nerve blocks, and secure fixation which we use, results in very little need for pain medication. Laser therapy is great as a post-op treatment also. Addiction to pain medication is a serious problem. We can help resolve foot and ankle pain without the use of drugs.

Can You Prevent Bunions From Getting Worse?

Bunions are very common in the U.S. In fact, 23% of Americans age 18-65, and 35% of those over age 65, have at least one bunion.

A bunion is an enlarged big toe joint. This painful deformity can run in families and can also be caused by wearing shoes that are too narrow or even a foot injury. Patients with flat feet, inflammatory joint disease or arthritis are more susceptible to bunions. ....continued on page 2

History FootNote

Hippocrates is believed to be one of the first practitioners of physical therapy in 460 BC, advocating massage, manual therapy techniques and hydrotherapy.

Celebrity Foot Focus

Iman, Amal Clooney, Victoria Beckham and Oprah Winfrey are among the many celebrities who suffer from bunions.

Find Us On Facebook

With a bunion, the big toe can move out of place and push against the smaller toes. It may be painful to walk and difficult to find comfortable shoes. Because bunions protrude, the inside of your shoe will rub against it causing irritation and calluses.

Treating Bunions

If you observe a bunion on your big toe joint or if you have pain in this area, especially when wearing shoes, please give us a call.

The first step in treating a bunion is to change your footwear so your toes have plenty of room. Then we will work to reduce your pain and relieve the pressure on your toes with:

- Custom-fitted orthotics to help stabilize and reposition the joint.
- Shoe padding to relieve inflammation and friction.
- A night-time splint that can help realign the joint.
- A cortisone injection to reduce inflammation.
- Special exercises for flexibility and mobility.

If these measures don't give you enough relief from the pain, we will discuss a bunionectomy where the bunion is removed and the toe is realigned.

Keep Bunions from Getting Worse with These Tips

- Our feet flatten as we age and you may add a shoe size or two. Always have both feet professionally measured each time you shop for shoes.
- Choose shoes made of quality materials that fit well.
- Avoid footwear that crowds the toes, putting excess pressure on the joints. Narrow high heels are particularly problematic in causing and aggravating bunions.
- Select shoes with wide and deep toe boxes and flatter heels.
- Stay away from shoes that make your foot slide forward as these will jam your toes into the toe of the shoe.

Remember - bunions will not heal by themselves! Without proper treatment, this deformity will cause more pain and complications, making you less and less active as you age. Come and let us care for your bunions now so that you can stay on your feet for a lifetime!

10 Weird and Strange Foot Facts

A. Can I have the keys to the broom tonight.

Trivia

What's the best water temp for soaking tired feet?

- A) Extra-hot
- B) Warm
- C) Cold
- D) Alternating cold and warm

Answer: D.

Swelling in the feet is best relieved by alternating several times between cold and warm water 15 minutes with each temperature. The alternating temperatures constrict and dilate the blood vessels that helps reduce swelling.

- Most people have one foot that is larger than the other.
- Every time your heel lifts off the ground when walking, your toes are forced to carry one-half of your body weight.
- No wonder your feet sweat - there are 250,000 sweat glands in your feet!
- 75% of Americans will experience foot problems at one time during their lives.
- Women have 4 times as many foot problems as men - in part because of wearing high heels.
- The average person takes 8,000 to 10,000 steps every day. That adds up to about 115,000 miles over a lifetime - enough to circle the earth 4 times!
- Toenails and fingernails grow faster during hot weather, the teenage years and pregnancy.
- In an average day of walking, the total forces on your feet can add up to hundreds of tons - the equivalent of a fully-loaded cement truck!
- The record for the world's largest feet belongs to Matthew McGrory who wears U.S. size 28 1/2! The average men's size is 10 1/2.
